"A fabulous spot for Francophiles who can't afford the airfare to Paris", this "vivacious" "French jewel" "tucked behind Larimer Square" boasts an "authentic bistro menu" (including what some call "addictive pommes frites") that's best enjoyed on the "fetching outdoor patio fragrant with blooming foliage"; if you prefer to sit inside, the dining room is also a "très charmant" choice for relaxing over a "romantic" dinner or a "lovely" weekend brunch.
